President Heather Chastain speaks at Baylor Business Women Event

Celebrating Home president Heather Chastain was the featured keynote speaker at the Baylor Business Women Event held October 29, 2009, at Baylor University's Kayser Auditorium in Waco, Texas.

Heather's topic was "Making Yourself Stand Out in Today's Workplace." The main focus of her message was how to impress with integrity, humor and helpfulness, along with the importance of open and honest communication and how to adapt your communication style to those around you to increase your effectiveness. During her talk Heather also shared the tangible and intangible benefits of finding a Christian-based organization to become a part of and just how great a difference this will make in helping define a person's true success.

Baylor Business Women are students of the Hankmaker School of Business at Baylor University. Student members, faculty, alumni and business professionals from the Waco area were in attendance at this event.
